

RGS-IBG British Airways Travel Bursary

| Map Ref. | P.I.                  | Organisation                        | Title   | Year |
|----------|-----------------------|-------------------------------------|---|------|
| 1        | Vernon West           | Fauna & Flora International         | Mpingo carvings study 2001  | 2000 |
| 2        | Jonathan Lyell        | Kent University                     | Analysing conservation behaviour in ecotourism, Belize 2000   | 2000 |
| 3        | Daisy Tyson-Taylor    | University of Newcastle             | Assessing tourism: Bunaken Island, Indonesia 2000   | 2000 |
| 4        | Kathryn Yusoff        | Royal Holloway University of London | The visual mapping of Antarctica 2000-2001  | 2000 |
| 5        | Shirley Fung          | University of Newcastle             | Study on the impacts of marine litter on visitor experience at Manukan Island, Tunku Abdul Rahman Ppark, Sabah, Malaysia                      | 2001 |
| 6        | Andrea Colantonio     | Royal Holloway University of London | Foreign tourist investment, environment and social responsibility in the urban Caribbean: Havana in the special period (from 1989 to present) | 2001 |
| 7        | Simon Jackson         | University of Newcastle             | Relating a calculated wave exposure index and current speed to coral reef assemblages in order to detect impacted reefs                       | 2001 |
| 8        | Annelise Baugh Hagan  | University of Cambridge             | Time-scales involved in coral reef recovery in the Seychelles   | 2001 |
| 9        | Akbar Keshodkar       | University of Oxford                | Re-defining Islam: negotiating the conception and practice of Islam in Zanzibar   | 2001 |
| 10       | Mauricio Talebi Gomes | University of Cambridge             | Food and digestive efficiency of wooly spider monkey: a comparative analysis between natural environment and captivity                        | 2001 |
| 11       | Ilya Maclean          | University of East Anglia           | Sustainable ecotourism in Ugandan wetlands  | 2001 |
| 12       | Esther Bertram        | Royal Holloway University           | Survey of shipborne tourism in polar and sub polar regions  | 2002 |
| 13       | Elizabeth Tyler       | University of Oxford                | The contribution of marine parks and marine protected areas to local fisheries  | 2002 |
| 14       | Allison Phillips      | Oxford Brookes University           | An investigation of the factors impacting on habituation levels of chimpanzees in the Budongo Forest, Uganda                                  | 2002 |
| 15       | Leyla Knittweis       | University of Newcastle             | Towards sustainable development of international tourism in the Andaman Islands   | 2002 |
| 16       | Richard Yarnell       | University of Brighton              | Fire as a management tool   | 2002 |
| 17       | Amita Vaux            | King's College London               | Assessment of 'ecotourism' in Gujarat   | 2002 |

|    |                          |                            |  |      |
|----|--------------------------|----------------------------|--|------|
| 18 | Jan Mosedale             | University of Exeter       | Transnational tourism corporations and the globalization of tourism: a Caribbean case-study  | 2003 |
| 19 | Stephen Simpson          | University of York         | 'Sea and learn on Saba' - developing eco-tourism through practice  | 2003 |
| 20 | Amanda Webber            | Oxford Brookes University  | Ape tourism in Budongo Forest Reserve  | 2003 |
| 21 | Maharaj Vijay Reddy      | University of Exeter       | Culture and ecosystems in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands - India  | 2003 |
| 22 | Kathryn Cavanaugh Tanner | University of Cambridge    | The marine shell trade of Tanzania: sustainable tourism or biological disaster?  | 2004 |
| 23 | Rachel Dodds             | University of Surrey       | Sustainable tourism in Malta and Mallorca  | 2004 |
| 24 | Louisa Ponnampalam       | University College London  | Spinner dolphins Sha'ab Samadai Reef, Egyptian Red Sea   | 2004 |
| 25 | Kathryn Cavanaugh Tanner | University of Cambridge    | From Tanzanian shores to Hindu temples: what is the meaning, value and demand for Tanzanian seashells in India?  | 2005 |
| 26 | Pamela Richardson        |                            | Linking tourism, gender and agriculture in Barbados: a policy approach to intersectoral linkages   | 2005 |
| 27 | Shova Thapa              | University of Sussex       | Benefits of nature conservation: implications of economic instruments to reduce human-wildlife conflict and the role of institutions in providing social-ecological resilience. a case study from Royal Bardia National Park, Nepal. | 2006 |
| 28 | Gabriel Eshun            | University of Leicester    | Ecotourism, post colonialism and natural resource management in Ghana  | 2006 |
| 29 | Padma Marepalli Rohilla  | Queen's University Belfast | Conservation and redevelopment of colonial heritage in Delhi and Pondicherry   | 2006 |
| 30 | Michael O'Regan          | University of Brighton     | ICT and the independent traveler: mobility and connections   | 2006 |
| 31 | Flavie Vial              | University of Glasgow      | Quantifying the impact of livestock grazing on vegetation and rodents in Bale Mountain National Park, Ethiopia   | 2007 |
| 32 | George Owoyesigire       | Oxford Brookes University  | Assessing the interaction between habituated chimpanzees and local people around Kibale National Park, Uganda  | 2007 |
| 33 | Mai Strunge-Nielsen      | University of Oxford       | Bush meat in Madagascar  | 2007 |
| 34 | Charlotte Packman        | University of East Anglia  | Conservation of Bengal florican in Cambodia  | 2008 |

