

Chartered Geographer Networking Event

Date: 15 March 2012

Venue: Royal Geographical Society (with IBG), London

The Royal Geographical Society (with IBG), Esri UK, the Association for Geographic Information and the British Society for Geomorphology invite you to a networking evening for professionals interested in applying for the accreditation Chartered Geographer. This will be an opportunity for anyone interested to learn more about the accreditation, the application process, and its value, as well as the requirement for demonstrable Continuing Professional Development. The evening will also provide an excellent opportunity to meet and network with other GIS professionals and geomorphologists working in industry.

This event is aimed particularly at anyone involved in GI and geomorphology, from students to professionals who have just entered work or have a number of years experience.

The event will be held at the Society in London, from 6.30 - 8 pm on Thursday 15 March 2012.

Please RSVP to cgeog@rgs.org or 020 7591 3023 if you wish to attend by Friday 9 March 2012.

For more information on Chartered Geographer: www.rgs.org/CharteredStatus

For directions to the Society: www.rgs.org/visitus

