

How the 2012 Olympics May Change a Place

Student's Name: _____ Date: _____

Choice of Place: _____ Research Partner: _____

	Good Effects	Bad Effects
Political (to do with Government)	Raising the profile of the UK Grants (monies given for a project) Subsidies (reduced prices) Working Parities	Single focus on the 2012 Olympics
Economic (to do with making money)	Building Industry Tourism Industry Jobs Building of Affordable Housing Infrastructure - Transport Infrastructure - Drains	Short-term Jobs Part-time Jobs House Prices Congestion

Social (to do with people)	Participation Community Involvement Improved facilities - e.g. medical Improving Healthy Living Migration	Migration Non-involvement Olympic hysteria
Environmental (to do with the plants, animals, land, rivers and the sea)	Sustainable aims Use of brownfield sites Combating climate change Reducing waste Increasing the types of plants and animals Encouraging use of Public Transport	More litter Loosing types of plants and animals Loosing open space Increased vehicle fumes More noise