Choose six ‘players’ in female education in developing countries and write each one in each of the numbered boxes in the conflict matrix.

Then decide on the nature of the relationship between these players in connection with female education, using the key suggested.