

What are the issues?

The speech bubbles below highlight different issues for migrants. Sort the issues into two piles – positive and negative. Then choose one of the speech bubbles and, with a partner, create a short role play exploring this point in more depth.

The climate of southern Spain is very different from that of the UK. It is much closer to the equator and is therefore much warmer for most of the year.

Property in Spain can be much cheaper than property in England. For example, a 4 bedroom, 3 bathroom apartment in Alicante can cost as little as £129,000.

Many people who migrate to Spain cannot speak the language. They tend to live with other English speaking migrants.

Property law can be quite complicated in Spain. Many people don't use a Spanish speaking solicitor to sort out their purchase.

There are many beaches in Spain and warm, blue seas. At the resorts there are many facilities for

Many people who migrate leave their family and friends behind in the UK. It can be difficult to keep in contact.

Spanish culture is very relaxed. It is common to have a long lunch with family and friends before having a siesta – a short nap at midday.

Pre-school children who move to Spain can pick up the language very quickly. However, those who are
