

Multinationals locate in London

Make full sentences out of these half-statements (answers at the end!):

Universities like the University of Westminster and the University of London the financial markets including accountancy and law.

England is in the European Union (EU) allowed millions of people worldwide to see London on television as a vibrant, energetic city.

The Olympics has global businesses and supports development in growing markets like India, China and the Middle East.

London is an established financial centre

as a location for Industry and offer advice and help to business.

There are many airports such as Heathrow and Gatwick leading multinationals like the HSBC have large offices in London.

London is a leading tourist surrounding London, plus a well developed transport network within the city.

The London Development Agency (LDA) promotes London destination receiving 25.2 million overseas visitors in 2006.

The international financial markets of London, provides finance for prestigious locations (well known places) like London, Paris and New York.

Many business services support mean there is a large well educated highly skilled workforce.

Many businesses like to locate in there are good links to the European market of 457 million people

There are plenty of cultural and entertainment opportunities in London like museums and restaurants.

Universities like the University of Westminster and the University of London – mean there is a large well educated highly skilled workforce.

England is in the European Union (EU) - there are good links to the European market of 457 million people

The Olympics has – allowed millions of people worldwide to see London on television as a vibrant, energetic city.

London is an established financial centre- leading multinationals like the HSBC have large offices in London.

There are many airports such as Heathrow and Gatwick - surrounding London, plus a well developed transport network within the city.

London is a leading tourist - destination receiving 25.2 million overseas visitors in 2006.

The London development authority (LDA) promotes London - as a location for industry and offer advice and help to business.

The international financial markets of London, provides finance for - global businesses and supports development in growing markets like India, China and the Middle East.

Many business services support - the financial markets including accountancy and law.

Many businesses like to locate in prestigious locations (well known places) like London, Paris and New York.

There are plenty of cultural and entertainment opportunities in London like museums and restaurants.